

Political Science Graduate Math Camp

Designed and taught a four-day bootcamp to incoming PhD students covering probability, descriptive and inferential statistics, calculus, linear regression, and causal inference.

Supplemented instruction with introductions to R and Stata, a discussion of research ethics, and professional guidance on comprehensive exams and course selection.